Seawall check on

The U.S. Corps of Engineers started inspection Tuesday of seawall damage resulting from Hurricane Betsy but there is no estimate yet how long it will take to figure the cost of repairs and get them underway.

An engineering survey and estimate of cost was requested by the board of supervisors Oct. 15 but the proper application forms to the Office of Emergency Planning, operating under Public Law 875, were not signed and forwarded until this Monday.

The new application includes a request for the Corps to handle debris clearance along the beach as well.

Representatives of the engineering division of the Mobile District of the Corps plan to be here Monday for further study of the seawall problem. G.I. Nettles, emergency planner at Mobile, declared the Corps is ready to do everything it can to help the conditions here as soon as it gets the signal.

A contract already has been prepared for debris clearance along the Harrison County beach as requested by that board of supervisors through OEP and contractors will be asked to bid on the job next week, Nettles said. Hancock's request at this time is for a survey and cost estimate on the seawall and debris problem.

A spokesman at Mobile explained that the county apparently thought it had covered the matter in its letter. Had that been the case, it is probable work already could have started, he observed.

City starts treatment against dust

Application of a dust palliative on Bay St. Louis streets started Wednesday morning in an effort to get temporary relief from conditions created by installation of sewer mains.

Crews are wetting the streets and then applying an oil mixture. The Carroll and Uman Avenues sections were treated first and the equipment was to move next to Cedar Point where the sewer job is well along.

Commissioner of Utilities J. Cyril Glover noted the relief will only be temporary as streets will be torn up again for installation of water lines and the connections from individual houses.

The city does not contemplate a resurfacing program until the utility project is completed.

George Consolidated Corp. started moving its equipment back Tuesday for the water main installation and it is expected to have all its machinery in by the weekend. George moved out in late September to lead emergency aid in the New Orleans area after Hurricane Betsy.

Two men from Joe Hunter's engineering division at Mobile are to be in Waveland today to study drainage problems raised by Betsy. The situation there has been deemed an emergency under PL 875.

Findings on the seawall and debris situation will be reported to the Office of Emergency Planning as provided by law. That agency in turn will negotiate with the board of supervisors.

Russell takes oath

Hancock Countians from varied walks of life made up a major portion of the crowd which jammed into the courtroom of the new federal building in Biloxi Monday morning to witness the swearing-in ceremony for Dan M. Russell, Jr., Bay St. Louis attorney, as U.S. District Judge for the southern district of Mississippi.

The oath of office was administered by U.S. Judge Harold Cox of Jackson, senior judge of the Southern district, U.S. Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which speedily approved President Johnson's nomination of Russell, presented the new federal officer with his commission of office from the president.

A gavel was presented to the new judge by his roommates from law school days at Ole Miss, Gov. Paul B. Johnson, Jr., Attorney-General Joe T.

Patterson who had named Russell as his appointee to the county election commission, called the new federal judge a worthy successor to the late Judge Sidney Mize, "one of the most lovable district judges Mississippi has ever had."

Greetings from the American Bar Assn. were extended by John W. Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., 5th circuit member of the bar's committee on the federal judiciary.

U.S. District Judge Claude Clayton of the northern district added levity to the occasion when he announced he already had put in a requisition for Judge Russell to help ease the load in his courts. Creation of another federal district judgeship for Mississippi already is before Congress because of the increasingly heavy load of business.

Hospital hearings finished

Hancock General Hospital's board of trustees wound up Tuesday night its investigation into complaints over administration and issued a series of directives to Administrator Thomas O. Logue as well as requesting the resignation of Mrs. Marlene Hart as director of nurses.

Trustees began their probe in executive session last Wednesday night. They met again last Thursday and finished the undertaking shortly before midnight Tuesday. The medical staff and nurses as well as Logue and Mrs. Hart were called in for questioning during the sessions.

The board went into executive session last Wednesday by a 5-2 vote on motion of T.T. Reboul after electing officers and the medical staff for the year. Voting against closing the meeting were Hubert Thigpen and John D. Rutherford, Jr.

Joe K. Duckworth of Pearl-Lington was re-elected president, Clifton Saucier of Beat 3 was named to another term as vice president, and Rutherford was again chosen treasurer. Mrs. T.P. Ward, newly appointed trustee-at-large and a former Beat 1 member, was chosen secretary to succeed J.C. Maufrey. All of the nominations were by Maufrey, other members alternating in seconding them and there was no contest over any office.

The session had been recessed from the previous Wednesday, regular meeting date of the hospital, when election of officers was deferred pending appointment by the board of supervisors of trustees for two expired terms. A series of complaints were presented at that session by a group of nurses on the hospital staff.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, The Sea Coast Echo:

It has come to my attention that several newcomers to our community have taken exception to certain rules pertaining to withdrawing books from the City-County Memorial Library. The library board and the librarians are anxious to please everyone; but there are certain hard and fast rules in every institution and we must abide by the board's decisions. These decisions have been established through many years of careful thought and consideration and we must and shall maintain them.

All complaints should be made to the board or to any member thereof, rather than to the librarians. These complaints will be given prompt attention.

Sincerely,
 MRS. E. C. SAMUEL
 Chairman, Library Board.

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

I am writing to you as a proud mother of a football player. I was wondering if you would answer one question as to why all the newspaper articles give all the glory to the back field boys, and the linemen get very little if any credit for a well played game.

I feel sure I speak for the boys on the line, as well as the other proud mothers when I ask this question.

I think all the boys and of course the coaches deserve credit for the score in the game, and give credit where credit is due, not only to the back field boys, because he made the touchdown, but also to those boys on the line who make it possible to clear the way for the backfield boys to score.

The line boys would like to see their name in print, giving them credit to winning the game, just as well as the backfield boys.

Thank you,
 A PROUD MOTHER,

In contrast, Mayor Francis J. Cain, of Burlington, Vt., stated in answer to the same question, "Our big goal in Burlington has to revert right back to that taxes problem I referred to earlier. The goal will be reached when we've found an answer to the question, 'What sources of revenue do we use to augment our property taxes?'"

And Mayor J. Owen Eubank of Daytona Beach, Fla., "...not enough hours in the day to do what needs to be done and the difficulty of explaining city problems clearly to the citizens so they can fairly appreciate the value they receive from their

by James J. Kilpatrick

In the end, about all the record will show is "certiorari denied." The two cases will be interred in the file rooms of the supreme court, deep in the maelstrom of ended causes; and though now and then the case of the gangster's widow may be resurrected in some footnote to the law of privacy, and the case of the depot waitress may be cited in some brief on labor law, for all practical purposes these two cases have come to the end of the road.

Both of them merit at least a prayer on the way to the graveyard. Both involve little people, obscure and unimportant in both cases the petitions were filed on pauper's oaths. Yet each of them raises a large question of law, and an even larger question of whether justice was done.

Al Capone died in January of 1947. His widow, Mae, dropped out of sight; his son, Albert, known as Sonny, ultimately wound up operating a restaurant in Miami Beach. So far as the record discloses, they were living decent, law-abiding lives, harming no one, and certainly seeking no publicity. Then, in 1956, word filtered back that Desilu Productions was considering a television series based in part on the gangland life of Al Capone. By ironical circumstance, Sonny Capone had grown up in Chicago as a boyhood chum of Desi Arnaz, Sonny telephoned Hollywood, to plead that the idea be abandoned, but "Arnaz refused to discuss the matter." The venture resulted, of course, in the famed series known as "The Untouchables," produced by Desilu, aired by CBS, commercially sponsored by Westinghouse. Week after week, the show topped the TV ratings; and in Miami Beach, the children of Sonny Capone fled home from school in tears. Sonny sold his restaurant, moved to an undisclosed city, changed his name.

In December, 1959, Mae Capone, Sonny Capone, and Mafalda Martore, administratrix of the estate of Alphonse Capone, brought suit in a U.S. District Court in Chicago, asking damages for invasion of privacy. In time, Circuit Judge F. Ryan Duffy was to agree that "as a direct consequence of the commercial exploitation of the name and likeness of the deceased husband and father, in a series of television dramas which were broadcast over nationwide networks for six consecutive years, the peaceful lives of the widow and son were shattered." The conduct of Desilu Productions was "reprehensible." It "overstepped bounds of decency." Yet Judge Duffy also had to agree with his colleagues that the applicable law of Illinois provided no redress.

In the view of the lower courts, "It is anomalous to speak of the privacy of a deceased person," for he has none. What a man does while alive becomes a part of his tax dollar." On the subject of the impact of industry to a given area, all mayors were spunky. Specifically to the question, "Just how important is industry in your area?" the replies of both Eubank, from Daytona and Scaife, of Bay St. Louis paralleled.

Eubank said, "Industry, the fastest growing segment of Daytona Beach economy, is most important because it provides the necessary balance and stabilizing factor for what was heretofore a typical resort area economy."

Scaife expanded this by adding, "Our community had begun to grow industrially even prior to the advent of the NASA program and every indication points to the continued development of industry not connected at all with the Space Program, which, of course, is most encouraging. It is!

tory which survives his death. Comment, fictionalization, "even distortion of a dead man's career do not invade the privacy of his offspring, relatives or friends, if they are not even mentioned therein." In this case, Al Capone's rights of privacy died with Al Capone. Thus the case was dismissed; and last week the Supreme Court refused certiorari.

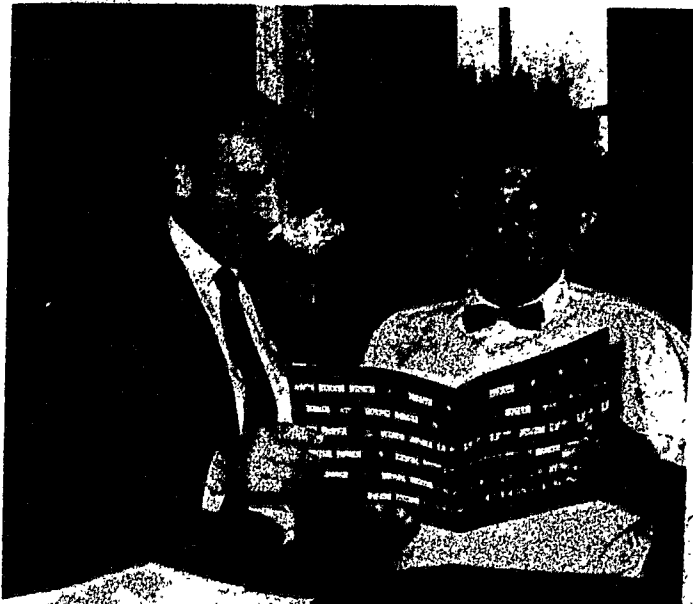

The high court also refused to hear the appeal of Florence Simmons from an order dismissing her suit against the Union News Company. Here the facts were that Miss Simmons had worked for some 14 or 15 years as a waitress in the soda fountain at the Michigan Central Depot in Detroit. Late in 1957, the company noticed that its profits on the restaurant were slumping badly. Embezzlement was suspected. The company got together with officials of Local 705, Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, which represented the workers, and came to an agreement.

Under this plan, an entire shift of five workers would be laid off for two weeks. If profits improved in this time, the five would be permanently dismissed. If not, they would be rehired with back pay, and the other shift would be similarly suspended. As it turned out, Florence Simmons (and another waitress with nine years' experience, Gladys Hildreth) got laid off. Profits coincidentally improved. And though the union-management contract provided that no employee could be dismissed except on "just cause," all five were fired. The record suggests that subsequently it was found that an office girl, charged with counting money from the restaurant, had been embezzling funds all along.

Florence and Gladys filed suit in July of 1959, in the civil courts, charging breach of contract. Everyone agreed that no proof of wrongdoing ever had been adduced against either one of them. Temporarily, Gladys won a judgment; then this was reversed. Florence never could get to a jury at all. The justices of the "just cause," it was ruled, had been determined by the company and the union under the labor contract. And last week the Supreme Court, 7-2, refused to hear an appeal.

"The sum total of what has been done here," said Mr. Justice Black, "is to abandon the fine, old American ideal that guilt is personal. Our system of jurisprudence should not tolerate imposing on the innocent, punishment that should be laid on the guilty."

The cases are closed now. But those who love the law, and hold that for every wrong there must be at law a remedy, will shake their heads over the cases of the widow and the waitress. Law, yes; justice, no.

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - Doctors who followed the operation of President Johnson say that far more serious than the removal of his gall bladder was the removal of a stone from the ureter. This is a very delicate operation, while the removal of the gall bladder is routine.

We have reported to you previously on the exhausting work schedule the President follows. He is up between 5 and 7, at his desk by 9, doesn't eat lunch until 3, working right through the normal lunch hour. After lunch he naps until 5 or 6, then starts work again and doesn't clear his desk until 9:30 or 10. He seldom gets to bed before 1 or 2.

This heavy schedule has begun to catch up with him—hence the need for a long rest.

Doctors also point out that Johnson does nothing except work. President Eisenhower spent considerable time on the golf course; also played bridge. Johnson has no recreation other than politics. However, he thrives on it. In a sense it's his adrenaline.

However, the president was quite frank in telling friends recently that he was tired and looking forward to the end of congress for a good rest.

He will stay in Texas until about Dec. 1, then come back to Washington to work on the budget.

During the next session of congress he plans to concentrate on the administration of laws already passed instead of pushing a big new legislative schedule and has already told his staff to start looking for top-notch executives.

Spare the spinsters

Two of Sweden's largest newspapers have launched a campaign to promote the dignity of old maids. Hereafter, the newspapers will give the title of "Mrs." to all women over twenty, married or otherwise.

Too much for Viet Nam

President Johnson's critics claim he is so preoccupied with Viet Nam that he has neglected other areas. Most resented is his policy of giving Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William Westmoreland their pick of the men they need. As a result, foreign service officers who have spent their lives specializing in Latin American affairs have suddenly found themselves assigned to routine diplomatic chores in Saigon.

Sneak play may fail

One misadventure, Rep. Thomas Ashley of Ohio made when he tried to slip the bank merger bill through the Banking and Currency Committee without its chairman being present was to include Rep. Henry Reuss of Wisconsin in his kangaroo meeting.

Reuss, himself a banker in Milwaukee, is a friend of Chairman Wright Patman and resented the fact that Ashley had surreptitiously called a meeting of the committee without notifying its chairman in order to okay the long-delayed Robertson bill, giving banks certain exemptions from the Antitrust Act.

Reuss rushed into the meeting, found Ashley in the chair, and, on the basis of seniority, superseded him.

But the vote may not stand up, Patman insists that a quorum of the committee was not present and that therefore the vote didn't count.

When congress reconvenes there'll be a knockdown fight over the quorum question—and Patman may come out on top. Many members of congress who don't agree with Patman's views on banking do agree that sneak plays against a committee chairman are out of order.

Viet Nam demonstrations

Attorney General Katzenbach has reported to President Johnson that the recent wave of demonstrations against the war in Viet Nam not only was partly inspired by communists, but that communists even are trying to persuade young Americans going to Viet Nam to commit sabotage against their own country.

Katzenbach said that hard-core communists started planning the "Viet Nam Day" demonstrations last spring, working through college groups they dominate. Among these, he said, were the W.E.B. DuBois Club, the Socialist Workers Party, Young Socialist Alliance, the May 2nd Movement, and the Spartacus Club.

It is probable, of course, that many of the demonstrators were not aware they were being used as dupes.

It is also true that "protesting" is a popular college pastime and always has been—because college students are at the age when they know all the answers to everything, and they like to make it known.

Propaganda specialists have been pulled off important work in Africa and the Middle East, and rushed to South Viet Nam to crank mimeograph machines.

Air Force pilots with special qualifications for space research have been ordered to fly milk-run missions over the Vietnamese jungle.

Most of these men have accepted the new assignments without protest, because they don't want to appear to be shirking dangerous duty.

But their superiors are complaining because of the damage being done to other vital programs.

Trouble for the wizard

The Ku Klux Klan, now being investigated by the House Un-American Activities Committee, may be headed for a major shakeup after the current hearings end.

Robert Jones, the Grand Dragon of the United Klans in North Carolina, is after the job of Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton.

Jones now heads 117 Klaverns, which make up about 45 per cent of the United Klans. He also is a clever organizer, and congressional investigators say the hooded order might gain in members under his leadership. However, Jones' ambitions to wrest control from Shelton may be jeopardized if he gets too much bad publicity during the House hearings.

Trade with communists

President Johnson is planning to fight the right-wing head-on in its effort to prevent American trade with communist bloc nations. The opposition of the John Birch Society and the Young Americans for Freedom against trading with the satellites or Russia is well known.

Recently the administration prepared a letter signed by three cabinet officers supporting the top tobacco companies of the nation in buying Macedonian tobacco from communist Yugoslavia.

However, the President plans a much broader step. He will ask congress for authority to grant most-favored-nation treatment to any nation which gives us reciprocal concessions, including the communist nations.

This will arouse a furor in congress, but the president is convinced that the communist bloc is no longer operating as a solid bloc and must be encouraged to have contacts with the Western world.

More trains run over Betsy path

Additional train service on the L and N Railroad was restored here this week, according to S.H. Yarborough, agent at the Bay St. Louis depot.

Four passenger trains are now operating through the city instead of the two that have been in operation since service was restored after Hurricane Betsy zoomed through the area, devastating bridges and tracks along the Coast.

L and N officials announced that effective Oct. 24 a New Orleans-New York sleeper will operate on the Piedmont Limited leaving New Orleans at 5:00 p.m. to Mobile, thence regular Crescent schedule from Mobile to New York with dining car service.

Liam Kenny, Wilson Webb, Johnson Shaw, Herbert Wise, J. R. Shadin, Joseph V. Colson, Sheldon Seuzeneau and many others.

After taking his oath, Judge Russell spoke of the grave responsibilities of the office and asked for God's guidance in carrying out his duties.

Seated in the courtroom with the judge's wife and children, Ronnie, Dale and Bryan, were Mrs. Russell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Tudury; his brother-in-law, Paul Franks of Gulfport; his nephew, Paul Franks, Jr., and Mrs. Franks from Jackson and Miss Ann Cooper of Texarkana, Tex., classmate of Ronnie at the University of Mississippi. The governor's wife also was with the group.

Judge and Mrs. Russell were hosts at a luncheon afterwards at Barlow's, inviting visiting dignitaries to join them for the occasion.

The new judge begins hearing cases next Monday in Biloxi.

Effective Oct. 25 No. 37, The Crescent, will operate from New York to New Orleans with through sleeping car. This train will also carry Cincinnati-New Orleans sleeping car and coach from the Humming Bird at Mobile. Also dining car service.

On Oct. 26 a New Orleans-Mobile train was established to depart from New Orleans 3:00 a.m., arriving Mobile at 8:00 a.m. to connect with the Humming Bird departing Mobile 12:01 p.m., which means a four-hour layover. However there is a through sleeping car and coach to Cincinnati and the sleeper is open for occupancy at 9:30 p.m. the preceding evening.

Yarborough said the schedule at Bay St. Louis now is, south No. 33 (Piedmont and Gulf Wind) 4:41 a.m.; No. 37 (Crescent) 6:00 a.m.; North No. 34 (Piedmont and Gulf Wind) 6:27 p.m. and the special made-up No. 98, approximately 6:00 a.m. Trains are somewhat off schedule because of the damage, he said.

"We hope to announce resumption of all passenger train service in the near future when damages caused by Hurricane Betsy is completely repaired," an L and N official said.

Volunteers to help with the canvass are still needed, Arceaux said, urging any one interested to call fund headquarters at the Sea Coast Echo, 112 S. Second St. Contributions to United Fund also may be mailed there.

A goal of $10,710 was fixed for this first year of United Fund operation in Hancock County. That figure is based on estimated needs of the member agencies—Red Cross, retarded children, Mental Health, Blood Bank and Boy and Girl Scouts.

with Dr. A.K. Martinovich, Jr., as their spokesman. It was then agreed to go into the questions raised the following week.

Most of the signers of the petitions of complaint were at last Wednesday's meeting. They had requested the board to seek the resignation of both Logue and Mrs. Hart.

Sheriff deploras Klan rally in this county

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., in a statement last Friday deploras the decision of the United Klans of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, to conduct a rally last night at Lazy Y Ranch on Rt. 603 and said his office would not provide traffic control or take part in any other phase of the gathering.

The sheriff said he had been besieged with phone calls protesting holding such a rally in this county. He noted that his office has no right under the law to prohibit any peaceful assembly, adding that excellent race relations have been enjoyed here. Ladner emphasized he had not been in contact with the organizers and knew only what he read in the newspapers.

The ranch owner, Mrs. Betty Younger Haas, said she had leased the area to two persons identified to her as Mrs. Russell Gass and Ralph Mackay, of Waveland. Both she and her husband planned to be out of town Wednesday and Mrs. Haas declared neither had any connection with the Klan.

Street closing still in news for filming

According to this week's issue of Newsweek Actress Natalie Wood is "flattered" by the Echo's objection to filming on public property the movie "This Property is Condemned".

Echo Publisher Powell Glass, Jr., plaintiff in a suit to block filming of the movie on public property without adequate compensation, was less pleased. Commenting the movie gives a bad image of any area in which it is filmed, Glass also objected to the accuracy of Actress Wood and the Paramount Picture's spokesmen.

"One illustration", Glass said, "is the statement 'some of her less adventurous scenes take place on Beach Boulevard, where shooting has been halted by Glass's legal maneuvers'." According to Glass he knows of no scenes scheduled for filming on Beach Boulevard—in fact hurricane Betsy blocked that street.

Monday Chancery court with no objection from defense counsel authorized the plaintiff to amend his petition to conform to objections raised last week. However, Glass said he planned to drop the suit. "Paramount Pictures is getting too much free publicity from what was intended as a local action", was his view.

Civil defense and resident engineers' offices are on the ground floor already and other space will be provided there for auxiliary police and fireman.

Producers must support their applications for payment under the wool payment program with full accurate information and sales records, Tommy R. Shaw, chairman of the Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded this week.

Program payments are made on shorn wool sales during the marketing year, provided the wool comes from sheep or lambs which the applicant has owned at least 30 days.

All applications are reviewed before being approved and can be handled more quickly if they contain complete information and are supported by sales documents, Shaw noted.

Applications for the 1965 marketing year payments may be filed with the ASCS office in the Agricultural Center between now and Jan. 31, 1966. During the 1964 marketing year in Hancock County they amounted to $420,64.

Bay Tigers jump into top slot

"We are leading the Gulf Coast Conference now and we intend to keep it that way," said Bay High football coach Lance Lumphreys after St. Martin's Yellow Jackets clobbered the Ocean Springs Greyhounds 27-18 Friday night on the Yellow Jackets gridiron thus ending the Greyhounds' 27-game winning streak and dropping them to second slot in the conference.

Bay High as a result of the St. Martin victory moved to the top on its 6-0-1 conference record, Ocean Springs is now 6-1 and St. Martin 6-1-1.

The Tigers and Greyhounds clash for the title Nov. 5 at Ocean Springs. Bay High can win the championship with either a win or a tie but the Greyhounds must win to make it three championships in a row. If the Tigers win they will be 7-0-1 and the Greyhounds 6-2. If they lose they will be 6-1-1 and the Greyhounds 7-1 giving Ocean Springs the title putting Bay High and St. Martin in a tie for second spot. A tie would result in Bay High going with 6-0-2, Ocean Springs 6-1-1 and St. Martin 6-1-1. The Yellow Jackets have completed their conference schedule.

It was a weekend of upsets from local high schools through the top colleges in the country. The heavily favored Tigers were hard-pressed and had to come off the floor to squeak by the Poplarville Hornets 20-19 in the final minutes of play Friday night in a non-conference game at Poplarville.

With less than two minutes to play in the game and trailing 19-14 Bay High's defense held and Poplarville was forced to punt. It was the Tigers ball, first down on their own 30. A pass and a running play failed but on third down quarter-

Gulfview tally reads 5 straight

The Gulfview Bulldogs chalked up their fifth straight win last Thursday beating North Bay Elementary 7-0 on the Tiger gridiron.

North Bay fought gamely throughout trying to avenge an earlier defeat this season at the hands of the Bulldogs but the Gulfview defense held and they were unable to score.

Coach Herman (Buck) Price's Dogs' offense was held in check most of the game but they exploded in the second period and scored on Billback Lucky Layne's 20-yard jump around and into pay dirt. Quarterback Buddy Boswell ran the extra point on a sneak.

A penalty for illegal procedure cost the Bulldogs six points in the third quarter when quarterback Teddy Dubose hit Layne with a 25-yard pass. Layne downed the ball in the end zone but there were red handkerchiefs all over the field and the play was called back.

The Bulldogs were scheduled to travel to Loggins for a return engagement at 12:30 p.m. today.

On Saturday, Nov. 6, Gulfview will stage its first homecoming blast, entertaining Piquette YMCA, Queen will be Miss Polly Walton of Bayou La Croix. Price said former students and the public are invited.

Varsity scouts view local boys

Feet were put out last week for Hancock North Central football and basketball great Wendell Ledner and Dick Mestayer and Mike Strong of Bay High. Ledner, 225-pound back has sparked the Hawks to three straight shut-out victories while the passing of Mestayer so Strong has put the Tigers on top of the heap in the Gulf Coast Conference and has accounted for Strong being the highest scorer in the conference throughout the season.

Vic Stoenner, assistant backfield football coach and Jerry

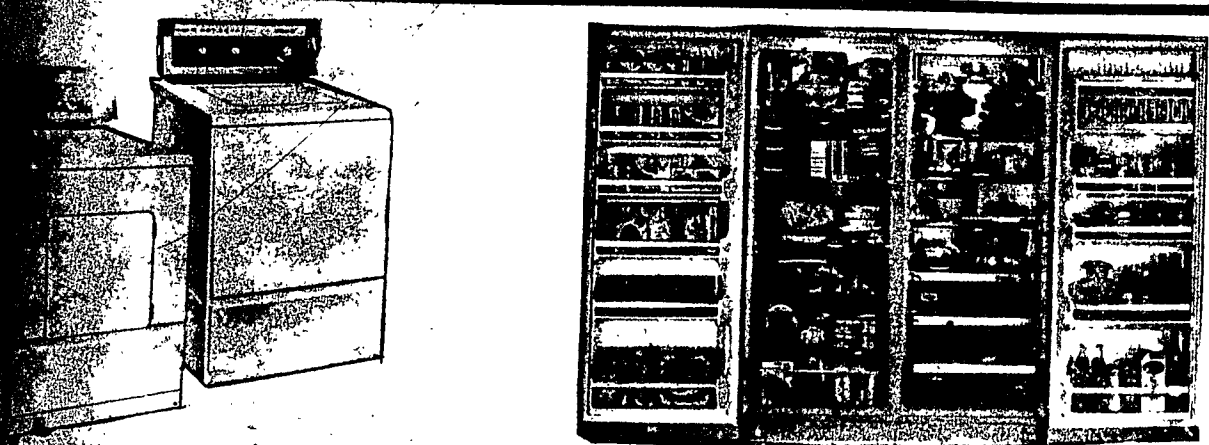

Simmonds, assistant basketball coach, both of Mississippi State were here Friday to scout the trio.

Ledner has also been scouted by officials of Ole Miss football scouts and Mississippi Southern basketball officials. He has also received a letter from Adolph Ruff, head basketball coach at University of Kentucky and internationally-known basketball coach. A letter from Ruff is considered one of the highest tributes that can be paid to a prep basketball player.

Along about now we can think of nothing more tempting than the thought of locking our hot little hands around the throat of Lamar Criss, comptroller with Paramount with Paramount Productions, as we will quickly stifle because, in addition to being one of the nicest people we've ever met, his interest in history of this area has started something that will undoubtedly provide us with column material for months after his entourage has folded tents and, more or less silently, stolen away!

All of this being a very sneaky method of returning to the subject of The Jackson House, summer abode of the 16th President of the United States a few years prior to the Civil War.

Anyway, our momentary impatience with Mr. Criss is due to a sense of utter frustration!

His questions started the whole thing. . . and we were rewarded with a rash of phone calls, all promising authentic details. . . immediately, if not sooner, PERIOD! Joan Glass remembered an interview with Alphonse Farve, this around six years ago when the Waveland Advocate flowered, in which he had made mention of a Jackson House, at one time operated as a hotel by his grandmother, Emily Camay.

All other sources having let us down, your reporter awoke the afore-mentioned Mr. Farve who graciously provided us with the following information.

The tract, presumably granted the county school board as 16th section land sometime after the war was leased for an undetermined period by Mrs. Camay. Alphonse recalls design of the home, unchanged since Jackson's time, as being two and one half stories—the first floor, practically constructed of brick columns, two staircases rising to a wide veranda in front, with a single set approaching the rear porch. The roughly 14 rooms comprising the main floor were topped with four or five above, with multiple dormers facing the water. Period of his recollection encompassed years between 1904-1907. He also added that the roof was topped with a circular promenade, sort of a cat-walk, from which guests enjoyed an unlimited view of the huge oak and pecan trees and oleander which surrounded the property.

He also recalled his grandmother sold or re-leased the property to a John Debeo who remained there for three or four years, after which it was abandoned, before becoming part of Gulfside Methodist Assembly. Rev. Peters, present head of the institution is going to do a bit of research for us, so we'll have more to come.

Gertrude Stanton also called as we were typing madly and gave the name of a former school mate she recalled having heard mention visiting the Jackson House as a child. We plan to drop a note to the lady, Mrs. Iverwon Mysing, now living in New Orleans, and perhaps she can further aid in filling the gaps.

Weekend parties

One of the nicer weekend fetes was the cocktail party hosted by Joan and Red Glas's honoring His Honor Dan Russell, and of course, wife Dot. Invitation was limited to officials of Bay St. Louis and Waveland. Some admiring lovely arrangements of chrysanthemums in that gorgeous new orange shade, and the lace centered serving table with more of the same flowers flanked with silver candelabra, included Alice and Johnny Scalfide, Edith and Warren Traub, Lottie and Garfield Ladner, Dominick Souler, Lillian and Al Grass, Jean and Johnny Longo, Sam Favre, Homer Gregory and Buddy Dufour. We're told that the beautifully done canapés and hors d'oeuvres tasted just as good as they looked.

Another lovely affair was the bridal shower given Thursday night in honor of Laurie Kiefer, at the La Fitte Drive home of Leo Lecroy, with Ezelda Ling, Ann Ashman and Mary Lou Stern as co-hostesses. Witty invitations penned by versatile Mary Lou invited half of the guests to bring miscellaneous household items and the others, recipes and ingredients. Some of these were truly clever. A couple of novel games were played before gifts were opened and admired. Champagne punch and an enormous variety of petit fours and exotic cookies, baked by Mary Lou and Ann respectively, were served from a beautiful table with an arrangement of stock, gladioli and other white blossoms in the center. Some guests included mother of the bride elect, Caroline, and Gary's mother, Ethel Byrd; Alice Scalfide, Jill Gex, Betsy Woolcott, who entertained with a recital of her experiences as an extra on the movie set; Mary Beth Ladner, Janet Trapani, another bride-to-be, Sandra Seuzeneau.

Wedding party

And then came the wedding. Laurie was radiant in a most becoming pale blue brocade suit. She and Gary Byrd said I do's before Judge Nolan Ladner beneath one of Caroline's loveliest oil paintings in the living room of the spacious Kiefer home. Caroline looked great in an afternoon suit of palest aqua with color accents on collar and cuffs, and Ethel Byrd chose a winter white wool. Matron of honor, Lee Le Croix, was just plain cute in a grey checked and white costume suit. Byrd, who took time off from his role as a 'punk kid' as he puts it, in the movie, was his brother's best man. Flowers and food were out-of-this-world and champagne flowed in unending stream. Just a few present included two of Laurie's brothers, Frank and Jerry (and probably their wives, but we didn't meet everybody, so spread out were the guests, Rebecca (Mrs. Leo) Seal, Adeline (Mrs. E.C.) Samuel, Mabel and N.L. (Turk) Carter, Capt. and Mrs. Harold Powell and lovely little Lisa, who looks as if she's never been ill even one day. Rosemary McFarland, Harriet and Charlie (The Rev.) Johnson, Betsy Walcott, Mary Lou and John Stern, Ann and Dix Ashman and daughter Dixie; Jill and Gerald Gex, Alice Scalfide, Bobbie Trelles, Maxie was doggying in Biloxi, Delores Castellin, whose husband was at sea; Mary (Mrs. Charles) Carter, Ezelda Ling, Dorothy and Joe Marochino, the Joe Tiemanns and daughter Jewel, Barbara Lahey and husband, who is with G.R. and who we didn't meet, so can't mention by name, and a number of others including members of the younger set, many now so grown-up, we fear we'd err if we started listing them.

Around town

Our good buddy, Major Charles E. Harvey, sent a card from the Crescent City where he's obviously having a 'swell time', to quote, and knowing the gentleman, we're sure he's not exaggerating. 'Cap' and Henry Capdepon, who are probably back at home

By now, also sent a card from Randolph AFB, Tex., where they visited daughter, Elsie and husband, W.L. Higgins, and family.

Follow newspaper man, Julian Sherrouse, assistant manager of the Times-Picayune classified advertising department, is having a ball while spending a three week vacation at his Old Spanish Trail home. He was so impressed with service rendered by the telephone company, and a personal phone call from Mr. Dabney, he asked us to recount this tale. Upon arrival here, his first visit since Betsy; he discovered his phone was out-of-order. His trouble was restored within the hour by Phillip Allen, who declined even a cup of coffee as he still had more calls to make, and this after 5 p.m. So grateful was Julian that he wrote a small note, enclosed it with his monthly check to the company, and promptly received the thank you call from Mr. Dabney.

ALL SAINTS' DAY AS HOLIDAY

November 1st of each year is known as ALL SAINTS' DAY and a time set aside when special tribute is paid to the memory of the dead when the public visits the graves and decorates the graves with flowers; and the ceremonies are the order of the afternoon and it is that one and all visit the "cities of the dead" to respect by their visit and prayerful solicitation; since ALL SAINTS' DAY is recognized over this section of our Southland, and in some places as a holiday, and in Bay St. Louis always as a day of thought and consideration as befitting such occasion:

WHEREFORE, I, John A. Scaife, Mayor of the City of Bay St. Louis, do issue this as the City's official proclamation, declaring MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1st 1965, a holiday, and officially requesting that all places of business and others employed may visit the cemeteries in respect to the memory of the departed, and at the City Hall, this 25th day of October, A. Alabaman,
are to marry

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Riggar Bartholomew of Winfield, Ala., have announced this week the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Vickery, to John Louis Griffin, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Griffin of Bay St. Louis.

The wedding is to take place Dec. 19 at First Methodist Church in Winfield.

The bride-elect is a student at the University of Alabama and is employed at the University Child Development Center. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. W.E. Bartholomew of Altoona, Pa., and the late Mr. Bartholomew and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vickery of Winfield.

Mr. Griffin studied at Mississippi State University and is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi where he was a member of Psi Chi honorary society. He pursued graduate studies at Southern and is now completing requirements toward a doctorate in psychology at the University of Alabama. He is a grandson of L.C. Pigford of New Orleans and the late Mrs. Pigford and of Mrs. C.M. Griffin of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. Griffin.

Beach Blvd. home. He, of course, took the tiny almost all black feline in, and his 'man Friday', Bill Lusich, now has it bedded down with a number of cats of his own, so it won't get lonely. . . but the good Col. has his own menagerie of two dogs, three birds and numerous tropical fish to care for, so if someone would like a sweet tempered, lovable kitten for a pet, just call 467-7283 and it's all yours.

Josie and Bob Haynes and Josie's daughter, Yvonne Schwartz, had a wonderful time on their recent trip to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where they visited former Waveland residents, the W.R. Crippens. One of the high spots of the trip was seeing a T-47 blast-off.

Everyone who viewed Carol and Andy Martinich's new home at a huge housewarming Sunday afternoon came away raving. We couldn't possibly repeat all the adjectives used in describing the house plan, decor, and lovely surroundings, but everyone was impressed with some real professional cabinet work and drawers designed and executed by Andy's papa.

Normally Julian Lorenz's activities concern his and his prowess, but worthy of note, indeed, is the fact he spent the entire weekend working on his house and manicuring his lawn.

One more local item, Marian (Mrs. Charles) Brown thought her sons were just 'wood gathering' when they told her that Jon's mother said she would come to their home, if they didn't bring Marian to meet her—that was until she heard a knock at her door Saturday morning, and there was Cecile. . . Marian, a bit 'shook' as the saying goes, managed to serve coffee and they had a most enjoyable visit.

Fumble ruling protested by Coach Bradley

Valena C. Jones' football Tigers dropped a rough and tumble, hotly contested game, 15-13, against Perry Attendance Center at Beaumont. The joust was finished under protest after such had been laid by coach Willie Bradley.

The Jones boys led 13-0 going into the last quarter and Bradley's protest came after two disputed plays in that period, a safety and a recovered fumble in Jones' end zone. Dispute was over who had the ball with the referees ruling in favor of Beaumont. Bradley has made official protest to the South Mississippi Athletic Conference and expects a hearing soon.

Result of the battle is that Jones will go into its homecoming game on Saturday without Captain Ulyes Sheppard, 172-pound fullback, who is out for the season with a dislocated knee. End Alexander Acker is also a doubtful starter because of a knee injury. The homecoming game against Wiggins is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Tiger Stadium.

Hawks...

(Cont. from Page 1-B.) Statistics: first downs, HNC 8, V 6 passes attempted, HNC 2, V 3 completed HNC 0, V 1 for 8 yards; interceptions by HNC 1, V 0; fumbles HNC 1, V 2; lost HNC 1, V 2; punts, HNC 2 for 25-yard average, V 2 for 27-yard average; penalties HNC 9 for 75 yards, V 1 for 5 yards; yards rushing HNC 239, V 75.

Scoring summary: HNC touchdowns, Ruzika, two-yard run Paul Cuevas 32-yard run; Wayne Cuevas, covered fumble in Vancleave end zone Lander, two-yard run; extra point, Osteen, placement kick.

Prior to the main event last Thursday, the Gulfview Pups trounced North Bay's Pee-wees 46-13 behind the running and passing of quarterback George Wainwright and fine receiving of Bucky Walman. Wainwright scored five touchdowns on runs of 50, 20, 15 and 5 yards, a pass interception, and three two strikes to Walman for the other points. Wainwright also accounted for four PAT-s on quarterback option plays.

Tigers jump...

The local lads, after doing everything expected of them so far this season, couldn't seem to get up for this game and played somewhat listlessly. It looked bad at the half with Poplarville on top 13-7. The Hornets added insult to injury in the third period with another touchdown and it was 19-7. But aided by some strong language from coach Lumpkin, the Tigers came to life and won the contest in the final frame with 13 points.

Poplarville scored single touchdowns in the first, second and third quarters but got a goose egg in the fourth. Bay High scored its only other TD in the second.

Poplarville's Lavelle White gave his mates a 6-0 lead in the first period with a 51-yard sprint, but the Tigers forged ahead 7-0 in the second on a two-yard drive by Mike Strong and placement kick by Boogie Dean.

While again just the Hornets on top later in the second quarter on a two-yard scoring plunge and Wayne Vallardi made it 13-7 with a kick from placement.

Vallardi ran it up to 19-7 in the third with a one-yard but but with six minutes remaining in the game Kranky got loose and raced 44 yards putting the ball in the shadow of Poplarville's goal posts and Fricke took it over from the one. Dean's kick was squarely between the posts and the Tigers were back in the game 14-19 scoring again in the final two minutes.

Friday night the Tigers will be at home to the St. John Eagles of Gulfport for another non-conference tilt.

Miss Oliver is wed to Mr. Roberts

The marriage of Miss Ruby Ann Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Melvin Oliver, to Kenneth Wayne Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton G. Roberts of U.S. 90, took place at 3 p.m. Friday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church. Rev. Thomas White was celebrant.

Mrs. Bertha Dahl, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor and Mr. Roberts was best man for his son.

A small reception followed at Horne's Restaurant. Mrs. Diane Crays, sister of the groom, kept the bride's book and Miss Cleo Strong assisted in serving.

The couple is now occupying the Roberts' family home on U.S. 90 and the groom is assisting his father with operation of Horne's following his recent discharge after two years in the Navy.

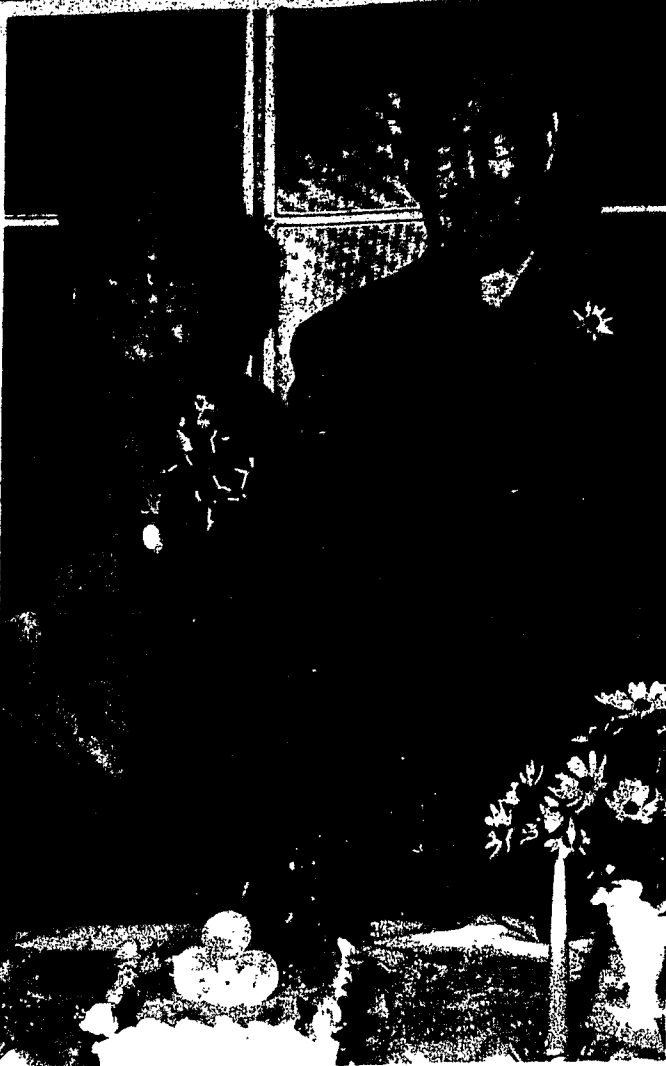

The bride attended Bay High School. The groom was educated in schools in Georgia and South Carolina and in Italy and France while his parents were stationed overseas.

Here from out of town for the wedding was the groom's sister, Mrs. Diane Crays, and children from Augusta, Ga.

Lamp operator Phil Steele, and we're just warming up. These, the real backbone of picture making, in addition to being nice people, are not only willing, but more than able to give your reporter and readers the detailed information as to how and why each tiny detail is handled.

We wish to extend our sympathy to talented Jon Prevost upon the death of his paternal grandmother, who died early Saturday in Mobile. Jon, his mother Cecile were joined by his father there for the funeral on Sunday.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS A-LONG THE WAY - Golden crimson sunsets, noticeably earlier each day, mirrored in an almost dazzling beauty in the water;

GOLDEN YEARS - Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Louis Johnson observed their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house Sunday at their home on Market Street, Waveland, where they have lived for the last 10 years. Mrs. Johnson is the former Miss Anna Payne and they were married Oct. 27, 1915, at Episcopal Church of the Annunciation in New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Turcotte and their daughters assisted the Johnsons in caring for friends and neighbors who called during the afternoon. (Photo by Ed Fayard, Jr.)

and huge orange harvest moons, following nightly; forming a shimmering path across the ripples, from as far as the eye can reach, right up to what remains of the sea wall; a small tan puppy barking at the perfect time during filming of a street scuffle scene in the movie, and the resulting sounds of laughter from cast and audience alike, spoiling what would have otherwise been a perfect take.

being picked up in nets from the Bay all the way down to Lakeshore. We also lost a note where-in Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hays reported a really great catch which included umpteens specs and a huge drum.

Movie chatter

Filming of Condemned goes its merry way playing to a larger audience daily. Our reaction to the lovely Natalie Wood and handsome Robert Redford were expressed last week but there wasn't room for notes about some of the other actors with whom we've chatted. Probably the most controversial is Charles Bronson. No one denies he's a great actor, but personal opinions vary. This is perfect, publicity wise, as he plays J.J., the most villainous of villains in the picture, and we secretly suspect the astute Mr. Bronson is well aware of this fact. However, much to our surprise, when approached, while not overly glib, he was friendly, polite and flashed a smile more to be expected of a hero type than the heavy. Rhonda (Mrs. Gerald, Jr.) Price was similarly impressed as he granted her not one, but four autographs, and all quite graciously.

Ever handsome Alan Baxter

was very, very nice as were Quent Sondergaard and Bret Pierson, both frequently seen on television.

So accustomed have we become to many who have been on location, since the first 'stone was cast', it's with real sorrow that we bid farewell to Bob Dawson, who left for L.A. and Bob Tassdale who took off for another job in New Mexico. Both departed Saturday.

We felt like weeping when set decorator Bill Kiernan, and lovely wife Leah, informed us they are returning to the film capital today, so Bill can check sets for interior shots to be made there. Leah and Betty, (Mrs. Ted) Tedrick, were two of the most delightful luncheon guests it has ever been our pleasure to entertain.

Space is running out, but we keep meeting more and more wonderful people day by day. We plan a series of features on more behind the scenes workers, such as our Sunday night cocktails and dinner hostess, script supervisor, Dorothy Hughes, a lady so dynamic and personable that we could fill a couple of pages with just a synopsis of her experiences during her 30 years in movie making. Others with backgrounds similarly fascinating, include Barry Schaeffer, who handles props, Myron (Pops) Schindler, camera crane operator with 37 years to his credit, and one of the best boom men in the industry; Francis Wilt, second in charge of grips (which we've at last learned means anything and everything to do with cameras); Jimmy Buchanan, another well known grip;
